ANOTHER UNION VOTES AGAINST RAILWAY STRIKE

Action of Railroad Clerks Reduces Supporters to 500,000 Men

OFFICIALS HOPEFUL

Labor Board May Delay Decision on Rules Until After October 30 Report Expected Soon.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The prospective rail strike scheduled for October 30 was limited to approximately one-fourth of the nation's railroad employes when officials of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, representing 350,000 men, voted last night to authorize a walkout by their members for the time being.

This action increased the number of major rail unions which have voted not to strike to nine and the number of railroad emloyes bound by such action to about three-fourths of the country's total of about 2,000,000.

The vote was taken in a meeting which lasted several hours and in which some of the officials at first favored a walkout October 30 in protest of recent wage cuts. These officialss finally swung over to a "no-strike-now" policy, but the question of quitting work will be taken up again the Labor Board renders a decision on the rules and working conditions questions now before it.

Last night's by the clerks left the signalmen and the telegraphers the only organization in the 11 "standard" rail unions, which may join the conductors, firemen, engineers, trainmen and switchmen in the strike they have called.

The telegraphers tentatively have aligned themsleves with the "big five," but officials might be changed before the strike date arrives. The signalmen have not yet voted.

While no official announcement was made by the Labor Board, it was intimated by members that the decision on rules and working conditions will not be forthcoming until after October 30, the date set for the proposed strike by the "big five."

Members let it become known that all decisions on questions on which there might be a strike will be withheld until after that date, explaining that in that way it was hoped the walkout would be averted, as the men have been ordered by the board not to strike until after the hearing of rail and union chiefs which starts Wednesday.

The board announced last night that it was summoning 1,400 general chairmen of the unions affected as well as the presidents. The sessions will be open to the public, and a large attendance is expected.

Railroad officials expressed the belief last night that the backbone of the proposed strike was broken when a majority of the standard unions, which control most of the railroad employes, decided not to strike October 30. Although a strike would affect all train service men, officials said that service would not be impaired for more than a day or two and that these men would be quickly replaced.

Possibility that the situation on the Tremont and Gulf Railway Co., a 67-mile line in Louisiana, which recently installed the open shop, would be brought to the attention of the Labor Board again by the unions caused interest among board members when they were shown the dispatches from Cleveland to that effect.

The board members said they considered that matter settled, for, after recently ordering the open-shop announcement annulled, they received world that the 30 employes were satisfied and that there was no dispute. The board then withdrew the jurisdiction it had assumed, explaining that it could not act unless there was dispute.

Union Services at 7:45 P. M.

Last evening at the Methodist Protestant Church, North Washington street, Rev. J. H. Straughn, D. D., president of the Maryland Conference Methodist Protestant Church, preached to a crowded house; the message was timely and very helpful to all, many made decisions to lead a Christian life from that hour. The singing was fine, everybody enjoying the old time songs. The combined choirs of Trinity M. E. Church and Methodist Protestant Church led the great audience in an old time song service. Miss Anna Roberts, of Philadelphia, rendered two beautiful solos, in her usual sweet way.

These services will continue all this week every evening at 7:45. Good speakers will occupy the pulpit.

At all these services Rev. D. H. Martin, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, will conduct the services.

Everybody welcome, come and bring a friend.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

From Our Correspondent

Washington, Oct 24.—Henry B. Hallowell, 82 years of age, the oldest "leatherneck" ex-Marine and veteran of many wars, both on land and sea, was a caller at the White House during the last few days. Hallowell has so many service stripes on his left sleeve that you can scarcely notice the cloth of which his uniform is made. He is a first sergeant and is still on recruiting duty, although retired from the active list of the marine corps. Hallowell served as an orderly at the White House during the administration of James Buchanan. He wants President Harding to help him out so that Congress will grant him the pay of a first sergeant of marines on the active list and permit him to wear the marine uniform the balance of his life.

According to the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, this is to be a banner season for the American sportsman and the 5,000,000 hunters who will carry their guns into the fields, lakes or rivers between now and New Year's Day are apt to find the happiest hunting grounds of many seasons.

Through the ducking grounds of Virginia there will be more ducks and geese this season than there have ever been before, according to reports received by the Biological Survey, even measured by the oldest inhabitants. Ruffed grouse, pheasants, deer and bobwhites are reported plentiful. In Virginia State authorities have requested all county game wardens to report available accommodations for hunters, anticipating a big movement to the field.

There was much excitement among the clerks employed at the White House during the past week and little groups could be seen commenting upon the cause therefor. It all came about through the absence from his desk of Rudolph Forster, Executive Clerk at the Executive Mansion. "Ruddie" as he is known, came to the White House during the administration of President McKinley. The oldest employees do not recall when he ever took a holiday. But he paid a visit to the Zoo Park last Sunday and came in too close contact with some

WARLIKE GUARD UNNERVES REDS AT U.S. EMBASSY

Attempts of Leaders To Rally Forces Bring Derision From Paris Crowds

MOB THEIR LEADERS

Bomb at Marseilles Fails to Explode, and Police Arrest Seventeen Radicals.

Paris, Oct. 24.—Ten thousand soldiers and policemen guarded the American embassy and neighboring streets today to prevent a threatened demonstration by French Communists in protest against the conviction for murder in a Massachusetts court of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, but no Communists appeared there.

Long before the hour set for the concentration of the Communists at Porte Maillot, 3,000 troops were on the scene, while others manned machine guns on top of the city wall commanding a view of the entire square. A few Communists emerged from the subway station at Porte Maillot, but they were hustled outside the city walls before they could organize and start a procession to the embassy.

Their rally cry of "Justice! Liberty!" brought derisive laughter from the usual large Sunday crowds of sightseers. Much larger crowds remained near the Arc de Triomphe to watch the procession of war veterans deposit wreaths on the tomb of the "unknown soldier."

American military police, long absent from Paris, reappeared today. Two of them were on guard near the American Embassy and others were stationed at the Passport Bureau.

Marcel Cachin, leader of the Communist party, was roughly handled by his own sympathizers who met him as they were returning from Porte Maillot. They reproached him for having failed to put in an appearance at the meeting place and struck him repeatedly. Police finally came to his rescue and escorted him to a place of safety.

The Italian Embassy also was heavily guarded during the day. French courts were kept in session throughout the day, but the judges had little to do, as only six arrests were made. The police say they have the situation absolutely under control in so far as to wholesale demonstration is concerned.

NEGRO SLAYER OF TWO DEAD AT ORANGE, VA.

Accused of Killing Sheriff And City Sergeant of Virginia Town

EIGHT ARE WOUNDED

Barn In Which Accused Negro Had Taken Refuge is Finally Burned—Body Found in Ruins.

Orange, Va., Oct. 22.—Three men are dead and eight are wounded as the result of a raid made last night on a moonshine still of a negro near here and a battle between the moonshiner and the posse this morning, conculded by the firing of the barn in which the negro had barricaded himself and his death in the flames.

The timely arrival of Gov. Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia, late this evening is believed to have averted an impending race riot.

The dead are:

Sheriff William C. Bond, of Orange county.

Julian F. Boyer, town sergeant, of Orange.

Walter Ware, negro moonshiner.

The sheriff and his deputy were slain by the negro last night. When they failed to return this morning the posse was formed, and the six hour's with the negro followed before he was entrapped in the blazing barn. None of the wounded are in serious condition.

Immeditaely upon his arrival the Governor, accompanied by members of his staff, went to the scene of the shooting, three miles from this place. Upon his return here he set up temporary headquarters and directed the Town Marshal to issue an order clearing the streets at 8 p. m.

Sheriff Bond, accompanied by Sergeant Boyer, drove yesterday afternoon to Church Run road, three miles from the Orange Courthouse, where it was thought Walter ware, the negro, was conducting a moonshine still on an extensive scale. The officers left the car with the chauffeur and disappeared in the dense wood directly opposite the estate of Jacuelin P Taylor, of Richmond.

The driver of the car, having waited six hours for their return, drove back to Orange and reported their disapparence to Alexander C. Brown Commonweath Attorney, and Dr. L. Holladay, the coroner. All night the two men accompanied by a posse of citizens, searched the woods and about 7 o'clock this morning came upon the bodies of the men, side by side on an almost inaccessible hillside. Returning to the town with the bodies, members of the posse began a scearch for Ware, at once euspecting him of the murder.

At the home of the negro, Ware's wife told E. H. Organ, and Lewis Bertucci, of the Richmond Police Department, who had been ordered to the scene by Governor Davis, that her husband had confessed to her the killing of the two officers. She said he spent last night at his home and left early this morning.

Immediately the trail was taken up and the posse, led by Commonwealth Attorney Browning, went back to the scene of the murder. With this posse were other groups of indignant citizens from other towns.

Ware maintained his moonshine still in a secluded spot at the summit of the wooded hills. Two hundred yeards away was a barn, and it was there that Ware fortified himself against the combined posse of more than 200 citizens and county detectives.

Armed with a shotgun, the negro managed for some time to stop the approach of the pursuers and wounded eight members of the posse. The wounded men, all residents of Orange, are Manley Carter, Edward March, Albert Spicer, George Brooks, William Browning, Earl Warmbesie, Haywood McCleary and Julian Grazett. After an hour's battle the posse, making vain attempts to capture alive or persuade him to surrender, saw flames shooting from the roof of the barn. According to the members of the posse shots fired by them set on fire hay stored in the barn. A breeze fanned the flames and in a few minutes the entire building was burning.

Several of the posse immediately approached the flaming building and searched for the negro, the remainder spreading around the building. After the fire had burned itsself out the charred remains of the negro were found. The top of his head had been shot away. It is not known if a bullet fired by a member of the posse struck him or whether he killed himself to escape capture or death in the flames.

CAPTURE STILL

Raid Made Saturday Night By The Police

In a raid made Saturday night on a garage directly opposite the city jail on the west side of St. Asaph street between Princess and Oronoco streets, the police captured a twenty gallon still, a quantity of mash, two three-burner oil stove, bottles, hose and other things. The still the police say was red hot and was filled with mash. There was no one on the premises at the time.

Fred Gravenstein who it was claimed, rents the place, was charged by the police with violating the prohibition law. When his case was called in the police court today the accused admitted that he rented the place, but told the court that he subrented the place to a man who lived in Washington and tht he was unaware that there was any still in the place. The accused propght witnesses to prove his statement that he had subrented the place and did not occupy it any longer. Further Gravenstein testified that the man to whom he had rented the place told him that he intended to engage in the huckstering business in this city.

The still was captured by Chief Goods, Sergt. Wilkinson, Sergeant Campbell and Policemen Magner and Durrer. Gravenstein was represented by Attorney Charles Henry Smith.

After all of the evidence had been submitted Justice Snow held the accused for the action of the grand jury and he furnished a bail bond in the sum of $500.

HOW TO ESCAPE FROM EVIL: — Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the Most High, thy habitation; there shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways—Psalm 91: 9-11.

Automobile of Massachusetts Party Collides With Tree at Lorton. Three Sustain Slight Cuts and Bruises.

Hurled arom an automobile a distance of twenty feet into a creek this side of Lorton Saturday night, at 8 o'clock and fished out of the creek without a scratch was the miraculous escape of a seven month old baby of Mrs. E. Stoddard, of South Meymorth, Mass. The child was floating in the creek when a Mr. Clark, uncle of the baby, who was driving the machine, and John Meeks, of Alexandria, who was driving directly behind the machine, in which the baby was, plunged into the creek and brought the child ashore.

In the machine in which the child was were Mr. D. Clark and his sister, Mrs. E. D. Stoddard and Mrs. S. D. Morash.

According to reports made of the affair they were proceeded southward and were enroute to Florida. In making the sharp turn at the curve, the machine, a large touring car, swerved, and collided with a tree, hurling the baby into the creek from the arms of the mother, and the mother sustained a sprained ankle. Mr. Meeks was following the machine in which the tourists were in and immediately he came to their aid and they went to Occoquan where first aid treatment was administered. The other occupants of the car escaped with slight bruises and scratches. Afterward Mrs. Stoddard was brought to the Alexandria Hospital where she received treatment.

Defeat Kanawa Team 7 to 0

Although the Kanawa A. C., of Washington, have run up 117 points in their last two games, they were grasped in hands of defeat in a game staged on the Monument lot yesterday by the fast Chrystal A. C., of Alexandria.

The local boys showed their opponents a few things that would open the eyes of professionals. Whitestone, the long center, scored their only touch down and played a good game all the time while "Phink" Otis showed them what a half back is supposed to do. Faulkner and Bayliss of the "John Meeks" squad, did something beside watching the rest. Every man played stella ball before not less than three thousand spectators. The plunging of Otis featured. Their line up was as follows: Snellings, r. e., L. Jameson, r. t.; Sheets, r. g.; Whitestone, c; Hawse, l. g.; D. Jameson, l. t.; Cockrell, l. e.; substitutes Hewitt for D. Jameson, Penn for L. STATE NEWS

Richmond—President Bruce Bowe, of the Virginia Real Estate Association, and the executive board are fromulating plans for the meeting next week in Alexandria of the development board organized in Richmond at a recent reclamation conference which will arrive at ways and means of advertising Virginia by a nation wide campaign. The meeting set for October 29, is considered by the association one of the most important in the history of its organized activites.

Richmond—Pledging his undying devotion to three churches, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian, William Jennings Bryan, speaking at this morning's session of the Virginia Methodist Conference, declared that the South is destined to lead the great reform movement to bring the Bible back into the homes and make the people of this country believe in the Word of God.

Danville—Mrs. Jennie Edmunds Moss today through her husband city auditor, Richard P. Moss, filed suit in the corporation court to recover $10,000 damages from W. E. Fulton, proprietor of a diary named in a report recently made by agents of the state board of health as responsible for the typhoid fever outbreak here. An attachment on all of Fulton's land, cows and property has been levied.

Petersburg—Crude oil, ronounced by government geologists to be real petroleum, has been discovered in this city, and a real oil boom is in store here, according to many. The oil was discovered several months ago in a section of the city occupied by negroes but was taken as a joke at that time. Several wells began to fill with oil, the negroes using it to fill their lamps. It was then believed that the oil had leaked from big tanks in a nearby oil yard. Recently, however, the liquid became heavier and darker and would not burn, giving every evidence of being crude oil. A negro lawyer sent a sample of teh oil to Washington for analysis, the report coming back that the liquid was crude oil and a natural derivative of petroluem.

Christiansburg—While the Texas Oil Company was having an excavation made at Barnes-Surface Motor Company garage, on the public square here the first of the week, two old copper coins of the half-cent denomination and dated 1795 were found in perfect condition. They were bronze and when cleaned off were found to be almost as plain as when coined.

FIRE DESTROYS BELLE PRE GLASS COMPANY PLANT

Loss Estimated By Owners At $50,000. Partially Insured

ORIGIN UNKNOWN

Blaze Discovered by Watchman—Big Factory and Contents Quickly Reduced to Ashes.

Fire believed by the officials of the Old Dominion Glass Company to be of incendiary origin at 5:45 o'clock this morning completely destroyed the plant of the Belle Pre Glass Company in the northwestern section of the city. The loss probably will be about $50,000, and is only partially covered by insurance.

The plant soon was reduced to ashes. Pratically all that was saved were a number of moulds.

Yancy Miller, watchman at the plant, made his rounds as usual and he at 5:45 o'clock discovered the blaze. The fire was on the west side and only a short time before he had passed through the building and there was no sign of fire.

He dispatched a messenger to a nearby telephone and when the fire department arrived on the scene the place was doomed. Five streams were placed on the burning building and the firemen worked on the blaze till nearly noon today, every piece of apparatus of department being put into action.

The building was a one-story frame structure, about 300 by 200 feet and it had not been used for the manufacture of glass for the past two years. It was owed by the officials of the Old Dominion Glass Company with George H. Schwarzmann, trustee.

The Old Dominion Company had stored into the building, machinery, moulds, engine, German clay, chemicals and tools and other things.

An inventory will be taken tomorrow in order to give a correct estimate of the loss sustained by the owners.

Mr. Schwarzmann stated today that the company expected to sell the plant and a prospective purchaser today was to have looked at the property.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY HELD AT ARLINGTON

State Senator Trinkle and Senator Swanson Speakers

500 ATTEND MEETING

Trinkle Tells of Accomplishments of Democrats in State in Reduction of Public Debt.

In the presence of more than 500 Democratic voters of Arlington county, Va., about equally divided between men and women, at Arlington county courthouse last night, State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, delivered an addresss which marked the opening of the campaiggn in this section of the State.

The address was delivered before the Trinkle-Smith Club, an organization recently formed in the interest of Senator Trinkle and Charles Henry Smith, nominee for the State legislature for Alexandria city and Arlington county. The meeting was presided over by W. L. Bragg, president of the club. Senator Claude A. Swanson was expected to introduce the principal speaker, Senator Trinkle, but owing to the lateness of his arrival, Representative R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, introduced the Democratic nominee.

Senator Trinkle gave an outline of the history of Democratic administration in Virginia from 1884 to the present time, comparing it with the administration under Republican rule which had obtained prior to 1884. He said that under Democratic administration the public debt had been greatly reduced, despite that the expenditures for educational institutions, hospitals, public roads, and for the relief of Confederate veterans had enormously increased.

He pledged the Democratic party to stand for the extension of the budget system to all of the State's activities where it may be properly applied and used. He declared that he unreservedly committed the Democratic party to the development of the public school system to the high est point of efficiency consistent with the rate of taxation which does not ignore present economic conditions He drew a parallel between the recommendations of the educational commission under Democratic administration and the Republican platform in the present campaign, in which he said that the recommendations of the education commission contain a large number of constructive meassures. while the Republican platform deals largely in generalities

Senator Trinkle paid particular attention to the highways department, stating, by way of summary, that the Democratic party is intensely interested in the upbuilding, not only of the State highway system, but of the country roads, and pledges the very best thought of the new administration to this department of the State government.

At the conclusion of Senator Trinkle's remarks, Senator Claude A. Swanson spoke briefly in the interest of Senator Trinkle's candidacy, and expressed the belief that the Democratic party in Virginia would score an overwhelming victory in the November election.

Charles Henry Smith, candidate for the legislature, who was expected to address the meeting, was unable to be present, owing to a slight indisposition.

League of Women Voters

The regular monthly meeting of the Leageu of Women Voterss will be held tomorrow night, (Tuesday October 25th), at the rooms of the chamber of commerce. At this meeting the meeting of the annual election of officers will take place. All members are urgently requested to attend this meeting.

TODAY'S THOUGHT Idleness and pride tax with a heavier hand than kings and parliaments. If we can get rid of the former, we may easily bear the latter.

SLANDERING VIRGINIA

Virginia is receiving advice from other states quite freely in her present gubernatorial campaign. But like all gratuitous counsel it is for the most part worthless. First comes the president of the United States, and so far descends from the lofty duties of his office, as to write a letter to the publicity director of a local Republican Club, and complain of the small vote in the Virginia state elections. He expatiates on the duty of the citizen to vote, and laments the dereliction of Virginians in this direction. President Harding has evidently overlooked the short comings of the electorate of his own state. With a beam in his own eye he sees only the mote in his neighbor's. Can he be ignorant of the fact that in 1920, the year of his own election, no fewer than 856,138 white voters in Ohio failed to exercise their franchise? Nearly a million men and women did not go to the polls at all. It would seem that Ohio is likewise in need of missionary work in reforming the electorate, and this work, not unlike charity, should by all means begin at home.

And now comes ex-senator Marion Butler, from North Carolina, and for over an hour stands before an Alexandria audience, and belabors and abuses Virginia, calls her harsh names, and reviles her manhood and womanhood. Nor is this all! The scurvier the abuse, the more biting the epithet—the louder the applause, the more raucous the laughter! Be it remembered, these were Virginia Republicans.

Marion Butler, if we remember rightly, was hoisted into the United States Senate on a populistic wave that was sweeping over the country at that particular time. Promised laws that would remedy all existing evils, from whooping-cough to low prices for corn. the farmers in many states, thoroughly disgusted with Republican misrule, voted blindly for anything that promised a change. In some instances, like that of Senator Marion Butler, for example, they got their change—but found it for the worse instead of better. Nor were they deluded a second time.

Senator Butler harped mainly on two strings the other night, in Alexandria: illiteracy in Virginia, and the small vote of the electorate.

Let us take the voting question first. North Carolina, like Ohio, was a hopeless sinner in this very identical matter. In 1920, she had 356,136 white voters who did not deem it a duty to go to the polls. Let Mr. Butler attend to the knitting in his own state before he goes on a stump-speaking tour to reform his neighbors!

The fact is, and both Mr. Harding and Mr. Butler should know it, and probably do know it, this apparent lack of interest in the electoral franchise is a national failing, prevalent in every state in the union. Strong efforts are being made in Virginia, and many other states to remedy this, and as the years go on, doubtless the people will be aroused to the danger of lax voting or the failure to vote at all! The Virginia Association for the Common Good, a body of public-spirited citizens with headquarters at Richmond, is doing admirable work in this direction, and the Gazette had an editorial not long since commenting on their timely efforts.

To say that the paucity of vote in Virginia is due to the Democratic Party, is as silly and absurd as it is utterly groundless.

Now for illiteracy in Virginia, which concerns Mr. Butler so deeply, and causes him to weep copious tears and raise his hands to high heayen in strenuous and prayerful utterance.

Illiteracy all over the South is greater than in the northern and western states; even illiteracy among the whites. But when it is remembered that the South staggered under a burden until well into the eighties, far greater than the Germans and their allies are now enduring, her progress is little short of amazing, and we venture to say no other people under the sun would have recuperated so quickly, or fought with such indomitable will and dogged perseverance. We go further, and say that the next fifty years will see her in the lead in many things, education foremost among them. This, too, because she has the old Anglo-Saxon strain purest and least adulterated. The race that first settled this country, that wrote the Declaration of Independence. and founded and maintained the mightiest Republic of history. Virginia is as alert to educational needs as any state in the union today. The state Republican Platform on Education is but a re-hash of the Democratic State Education Commission's report, which it stole boldly and bodily.

But why does Senator Marion Butler come into Virginia and belittle our schools and deplore our illiteracy? We have not the new figures as yet as to present illiteracy in North Carolina, but in 1910, her total illiteracy for those over 10 years of age was 18.5 per cent, against Virginia's 15.2 per cent; this latter figure having decreased to 11.2 in 1920. Virginia today has a total enrollment in the High Schools of 6.1 per cent against 2.8 per cent for North Carolina. She has a school term of 141 days against her neighbor's 123 days. She has 15,904 teachers against 15,241 in North Carolina. She pays them as average salary of $385, against $284 in Marion Butler's state. She has a value of $39.20 in school property for each child enrolled, as against $22.55 in North Carolina. Her permanent school fund per pupil enrolled is 7 times as great as North Carolina's. The annual cost per pupil enrolled is 15.00 for Virginia and 9.49 for North Carolina. Virginia spends for schools out of each $100 of taxable wealth, 24.2 cents against only 21.6 for North Carolina.

In spite of these figures which demonstrate Virginia's superiority over North Carolina in educational matters, ex-Senator Marion Butler has the unspeakable effrontery to cross over the border into the historic city of Alexandria, and there traduce a great people; to say in utter slander and defamation that Virginia's taxes are used for the support of office-holders; that the men and women of the state are without sufficient education; that the present inhabitants are worse than the serfs of the countries of Europe; that they are unworthy decendants of their ancestors; and that they are like slaves under the lash of the overseer.

And to what remedy does ex-United States Senator Marion Butler point? He asks the sons of Virginia to vote the state Republican ticket; that has in its platform a clause that advises the abolition of the "iniquitous poll tax as a prerequisite to voting and a penalty on the exercise of citizenship," —when every dollar of this poll-tax goes to the cause of education! He glorifies the Republican Party, of which Theodore Roosevelt said in 1912: "Behind the ostensible government (at Washington) sits enthroned an invisible government, owing no allegiance and acknowledging no responsibility to the people."

We are constrained to say that we trust no more imported orators will be brought to Alexandria to slander Virginia and vilify her people.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Gazette:
October 22nd.
Dear Sir:

As a patron and friend of the public schools of our city, I beg space for a brief communication.

The exercises given by the grades in the Alexandria High School Auditorium last Friday evening, was to say the least, a "Howling Success."

Those participating showed talent and evidence of careful training, and the program would have been very much enjoyed, by the friends and patrons of the school, had not the Auditorium been jammed to suffocation.

This meeting demonstrated the need of a larger assembly hall for just such and many other occasions. We hope that the School Board will be admonished by this experience to consider the matter in planning the contemplated new building.

The writer was an interested spectator and enjoyed the program very much, notwithstaniding the fact that he had to play the role of a "hot dog" in a quick lunch restaurant,—yea, more, he was not only sandwiched in between two, but was compassed about on all sides, buffeted, tramped on, and tramping on others continually, and his was the common experience of nearly every one present.

Now, this is not written in any spirit of criticism or fault finding, for no one is to blame for this condition. It is simply another indication of the inadequacy of room to accomodate our grawing schools—an indication of the increased interest on the part of the people in all the school's activities.

May this experience and this item be the means of starting a movement among the friends and patrons for an auditorium or assembly hall adequate for the needs of the community.

Let the Parent-Teachers' Association take this matter up and let all interested in the matter stand with them.

Respectfully, C. M. Houston.

Record Breaking Crowd at School Entertainment

It was estimated that a thousand people were present at the High School Auditorium last night Every inch of standing room Friday was taken, the seating capacity of the hall being only three hundred and fifty.

That the program was a practical failure due to the disorder which prevailed more or less throughout the exercises seems to be the consensus of opinion of the majority of those present. The excellent work done by the teachers in the training of the children was e vident. It was evident also from the large number in attendance that the people of Alexandria are behind the public schools and willing to co-operate to the fullest extent for their growth and development. The interest shown by the school children in introducing their parents to the teachers was unusual, and the work done by the high school boys in helping to handle the over-crowded building was worthy of the highest commendation. That the auditorium was not under better control is a matter of regret to all public spirited citizens and a reflection upon the reputation of our schools. Much of the confusion grew out of the noisiness of the school children themselves. It would seem that it is the business of the public schools to teach the children how to behave at public gatherings, and how at a school exercise to play the host to their parents as guests.

It is hoped that the schools will provide a number of public programs in the future and the public is confident that the one obstacle to last Friday's complete success will not again prevent the enjoyment of the exercises by the audience.

WITH THE WISHING FAIRY by CORINNE

A True Story About a Swan.

THERE is a small lake on Long Island on the banks of which is a fishing club.

One day a member of the club presented it with a pair of white swans.

For weeks Mr. and Mrs. Swan swam sedately over the surface of the peaceful little lake and were made much of by the club members, who whenever they went fishing fed them bread.

Mrs. Swan suddenly died, and, though every one missed her, no one missed her quite as much as did Mr. Swan, who mourned and mourned for his lost mate. For ten days he scarcely ate, and every one felt very sorry for him. Then he disappeared! All the members of the club searched for him, for they were sure that he had died of grief and that they would find his body somewhere near the lake, but he wasn't found.

Imagine the excitement at the end of six weeks when Mr. Swan flew home with a new Mrs. Swan!

After a while they built a nest of grasses and leaves in the middle of a thick bush. How carefully they had chosen the right spot for it! It was so completely hidden that the eight grayish olive eggs that Mrs. Swann laid were well protected and hatched out eight sooty gray little cygnets.

All this happened several years ago, and ever since then the club members never fail to show the swans to visitors or to tell about the Swan's six weeks absence and return. They think he had merely been searching for a wife while away, and never even dream that he had flown to the End-of-the-Earth to see Stella, the Wishing Fairy. They don't know that he told her of his troubles and of how lonesome he was and that he begged her to make his wish for a lovely new mate come true.

But that is what happened.

After Mr. Swan's visit to the End-of-the-Earth the Fairy and her four Brownies were grouped together on the cool moss near the magic Get Little Pool.

Stella was combing her hair with the tiny backbone of a fish that had been a present from the End-of-the-Sea Fairy, while Snookums was gently fanning her with a dragon fly wing. She had just told them the story of Mr. Swann having flown all the way from Long Island to see her.

"Are there many different kinds of swans?" asked Pimzie, who was ever so interested.

"Yes," she answered, "quite a number. There is the Whistling Swan that is also called a 'Whooper' and is found in Iceland, Lapland and northern Russia. It flies south in autumn, sometimes going as far as Africa. There is the Black Necked Swan and several other kinds, and I must not forget the Black Swan. It is very beautiful, with its brilliant pink bill. It comes from Australia.

"Once upon a time," the little Fairy continued, "there was no such thing as a tame swan. This beautiful bird was as wild as other birds of the air; but man could not resist capturing and domesticating it.

"Later in England there was a law that no one might own a swan without the permission of the King or Queen. During this period the Swan was called a 'Bird Royal,' and each one bore on its bill the mark of its owner."

Electricity and Leisure

Listen to this:—

A recent conference of housewives was called for a certain Monday afternoon. The attendance overflowed the hall and the first speaker made a point of the fact that had this been a Monday meeting in her mother's day, not a woman would have been there. Monday was washday and Mother had no electric washer to turn out the laundry in a couple of hours!

If every woman would let electricity help with the housework there'd be more leisure for the mothers of today. With electric cleaners, washers, irons and ironing machines; with electric dishwashers and egg beaters and sewing machines, housework can be organized on the same time and labor-saving basis as man's work in office, factory or shop.

Our plan of extended payments on all appliances makes it possible for every home to have electric servants.

Disabled Soldiers

Holding that the treatment and compensation of the disabled soldiers of the World War is one of the most important of the many problems which face our National Government today, the Virginia Department of the American Legion, acting under instructions from the recent convention at Norfolk, has made that matter the principal subject on its program of future activity. It will be carried to the National Convention of the Legion at Kansas City in October, and assistance for the disabled men will be sought in every possible way.

At the Norfolk Convention the Legion went on record as according "to the disabled of the World War its first and unqualified consideration in so far as it can aid their treatment, compensation and general welfare." and department officers are now working out their program for the coming year on that pledge.

The Convention also went on record as expressing the belief that while "The National Headquarters of the Legion has been of inestimable service to the disabled it has not completely filled its promise to disabled and the country at large in that it has not combined all efforts to secure the passage of the Wason Bill, the Stevenson Bill, the Bursum Bill and other measures now pending before Congress for the relief of the disabled, which have been buried in committees for a long period of time. The opinion was expressed that success on these bills should be secured before the adjusted compensation measure is called to a vote in either house.

Two other outstanding resolutions in this connection that were adopted by the Convention are as follows:

"Whereas it has come to the attention of this convention that many fraudulent compensation claims are being filed claiming disability as a result of service, the newly created Veteran's Bureau is urged to carefully investigate every new claim through its clean-up squads and to re-examine all present compensation claims with a view to either increase or decrease the compensation as will be warranted by the most recent medical evidence."

"That the members of Congress who are true friends to the cause of the Ex-service men, in so far as the Ex-service men urge measures compatable with the national interests and welfare, are known to us; that those members who are openly opposed to just and proper relief measures for the Ex-service men of America, or who secretly oppose such relief at the same time trying to deceive us with fine phrases and many "Weasel Words" are likewise known to us and will receive our united opposition to their continued desire to represent American democracy on the floors of Congress."

Charging that bodies of returned soldier dead at the army piers at Hoboken are handled with less respect than are boxes of merchandise, the American Legion Department of New Jersey has urged the Governor and Adjutant-General of that State to place officers permanently on duty at the base to demand proper treatment of the bodies.

Removal of the dead has become fatigue duty for soldiers, in practice if not by order, investigation has disclosed. Unkempt men jostle the flag-covered caskets into disreputable looking trucks and drivers bounce their precious loads over rough streets at a high speed. it is charged, with no military guards accompanying the remains

Editor Gazette:

With the periodic agitations frequently occuring in eras like the present, you no doubt will be interested in the most recent authoritative thought on the subject of rates brought out at the convention of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners at Atlanta, Ga., on Tuesday, October 11th.

This association, as the name indicates, consists of those men appointed by the Governors of the various States in the Union to regulate and fix the rates which the public utilities shall charge for their service. I quote herewith a condensed excerpt of the report of a committee consisting of Commissioners:

A. G. Patterns, of Alabama, chairman; James Cansler, South Carolina; W. C. Bliss, Rhode Island; F. R. Spinning, Washington; H. H. Williams, New Mexico; H. A. Russell, Kansas; L H. Porter, Vermont.

"The public must be given fair and adequate service at a reasonable cost and the safe guarding of these essential rights of the people make the existence of regulatory bodies a real necessity.

"Such regulatory Governmental bodies, however, at the same time must be sufficiently wise and fair and farseeing to stand between the utility in question and unthinking, hasty public clamor not gased upon full knowledge and careful thought.

"Public utilities are subject to the same financial laws of operation as are private enterprises. They must operate successfully in order to successfully and adequately fulfill their duty of service to the public, not only in the present but in the near future.

"This is particularly true at the present time; and for the season that for the last five years their revenue rates did not proportionately increase with their rapidly increased cost of operation.

"It therefore follows that in order to maintain a just, equitable balance and to even keep such utilities out of bankruptcy, it is necessary to maintain their higher rates longer than would, to the layman, seem necessary, judging by the surrounding decline in commodity price. To fail in their policy would be to put such utilities out of business and to discontinue that service to which the public is so justly entitled and it is now more necessary to the return of the vast bulk of private business to the dedired goal of normalcy."

In this connection it may be interesting for you to know that our rates for residential and commercial lighting service to our average customers are 19.56 per cent lower than the prevailing rates in the City of Washington. Considering the disparaging difference in the population and the percentage of saturation of territory served between the communities, I personally believe that our patrons are to be congratulated upon the fact that the Company with which I am identified has seen fit to bear the larger proportion of the increased cost of operation itself rather than pass it on to the customers.

I feel that our patrons fully appreciate this fact and will accordingly stand by the company and assist it to pass through this difficult period.

Yours very truly,
Alexandria County Lighting Co.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas is sure that the flow of people to the big cities is going to be diverted to the rural districts within the next decade.

"The agricultural population," says the Senator, "is dwindling so in every state of the Union that it soon will be impossible for the farmers to raise enough food to feed these fellows in the city and as soon as the city residents get hungry, good and plenty, they will go back to the farm, where they ought to have stayed all the time. That is the place for a man to live anyhow."

Former Senator Mark Smith, of Arizona, now a member of the International Joint Commission, has always been against proposed legislation cutting out smoking in the government buildings.

"I once knew an honored member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee," he said, "who boasted that he neither smoked, chewed or drank. One day I asked him: 'What do you do to smell like a man?'"

The former Senator says to prohibit a man from smoking whenever and wherever he pleases savors of the old-time blue laws, to which he is bitterly opposed.

"I have two Senators in my home—twins—who came to live with us a few days ago," was the communication received by Senator France, of Maryland yesterday from one of his constituents. "We named one of the boys after you and the other one after Senator Weller. The boy which we named France weighed 8 1-2 pounds when born and Weller 6 and 1-2 pounds. They are husky chaps and we are sure they will be inspired to be good, useful citizens by emulating your example."

President Harding leaves on Tuesday for another trip into the Southland. This time he is going to visit Birmingham and Atlanta and will deliver addresses at both places. He will also inspect the army training camp at Fort Benning on the outskirts of the Georgia metropolis.

INDIAN ALLIES

Our readers will perceive by the official letter of Gen. Duncan McArthur, that a treaty has just been concluded with the Indians. These savages who but a few days since were massacreing the Americans on the side of the British, have agreed to massacre the British hereafter on the side of the Americans. Gen. McArthur says, and the Court Gazette calls it "heart cheering intelilgence" that the Indians "have agreed to take hold of the same tomahawk with us, and to strike all those who may be the enemies to the U. States."

The Congressional Committee of Cruelties have hardly completed their report, and the Democratic papers have not done publishing it, before Indian hell hounds have become Indian allies, and murdering with the tomahawk, the means of honorable warfare!

HIGH SCHOOL TIES

Gonzaga And A. H. S., Play 7 to 7—Tie Game Saturday

The teams of Alexandria High and Gonzaga College of Washington, played a 7 to 7 tie game on Baggett's field, Saturday afternoon. The teams were about evenly matched as to weight.

Alexandria received the kick-off at the beginning of the game and after a series of end-runs and line plunges sent Midkiff over for the first and only touchdown in the first three minutes of play. Dreifus kicked the goal. Alexandria's hopes rose high, but were destined to be short lived, as Gonzaga received Pettit's kick-off and tried to plunge the line twice, but with no success. A criss-cross play was then pulled and Boucher of Gonzaga galloped unmolested 60 yards for a touchdown and kicked the goal. The first quarter was not up and both teams had registered touchdowns. From the first quarter to the end of the game each team repeatedly threatened the other's goal but was unable to score.

Many fumbles and bungles featured the last three periods of the game for both teams.

Many forward passes were worked by both sides, but with no success so far as scoring was concerned. Hayman and Travers featured for Alexandria while Boucher and Simpson played a great game for Gonzag.

Richmond—Opening on the evening of Monday, November 12, and continuing through Tuesday, November 22, there will be held in Richmond a Conference on Governmental Efficiency, called by Governor Westmoreland Davis, in cooperation with and at the request of the Department of Efficient Government of the Virginia League of Women Voters. As Chairman of this conference, Governor Davis will preside at the opening session and will speak on the "Purpose of the Conference." Other speakers of national reputation and ability, experts in their various lines, will deliver addresses at the four sessions now planned by the executive committee which has charge of all arrangements.

Danville,—The city of Danville is making a bid for the next Reunion of the United Confederate Veterans of Virginia, Mayor Harry Wooding on his return from Charlottesville, stating that the committee to designate the next meeting place is favorable to Danville. It is practically certain, according to Captain Wooding, that this city will have the next convention, after a lapse of ten years. The chamber of commerce of this city has taken up the matter already and a definite announcement is expected soon.

MOTHER! CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of Mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

IN THE LONG AGO
(For the Gazette.)

The chafing was in use many, many centuries ago.

Dolls were children's playthings in the days of Babylon.

Fireworks can be traced back to the thirteenth century.

Alfalfa has been cultivated since before the time of Christ.

Guns were used by the English in the battle of Crecy in 146.

The bagpipe, the earliest musical instrument, dates back to 4,000 B. C.

Thimbles were used by the Chinese at a very early period in the world's history.

The art of making spirits was well known many centuries before the advent of the Christian era.

The sundial was known from the earliest times to the Egyptians, the Chaldeans and the Hebrews. The Greeks derived it from their eastern neighbors, and it was introduced into Rome during the first Punic war.

DESPAIR LURKS IN WEAK BLOOD

Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the Blood-Builder, Arouses Dull Faculties

Many a man and many a woman feels all out of sorts from thin, weakened blood. The least little thing gone wrong throws them into a wild form of despondency. Instead of bracing up and meeting ordinary difficulties, they are downed. Nerves are on edge. Appetite lags. Sleep is restless. They are weak and tired and dull. Poor blood works its havoc till the will loses its power. Few people who fall into habits of worry and despondency, realize that most of their troubles are due to lack of endurance—to blood that has become weakened by overwork or straining.

Healthy men and women with rich, red blood see things brightly. They tackle life with zest and go along smilingly, full of eagerness and endurance.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily restored the blood to its natural richness. It actually makes red corpuscles the tiny particles in blood which makes it red. Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form. (Adv.)

The Isle of Pines has a mild and salubrious climate, and has long been a health resort, especially for persons troubled with bronchitis, consumption, etc.

Russia had an era of 8,647,657 square miles prior to the world war and was the most extensive dominion in the world, next to the British empire. The area of Russia proper was then 1,862,524 square miles.

RICMOND THEATRE

A 2-reel comedy, "The Quack Doctor," will also be shown.

INGOMAR THEATRE

"The Winding Trail," the latest Victor Kremer production, will be the offering at the Ingomar Theatre today.

The story is a western tale built upon love, devotion and self-sacrifice in which "Buck" Manning will appear in the leading male role with Marjorie Clifford playing opposite to him.

The story teems with thrills and some sensational scenes, but does not rely upon these alone to make it attractive to the audience.

NOTICE

I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by any one but my self.

IN MEMORIAM

LAYCOCK—In sad but loving remembrance of JOSEPH EDWARD LAYCOCK, who departed this life three years ago October 23, 1918.

Three years ago you left me,
Lonely in my heart today,
For you, who smiled to cheer me,
Have forever passed away.
My life's not same wit hout you,
In fact, I find no cheer,
Trying to live my life alone,
Without your presence here.
And I hear my silence,
Awaiting my call away,
And pray that God will grant my prayer
That we shall meet some day.
There is grief that cannot find comfort,
And wounds that cannot be healed
And sorrow deep in the human heart
That cannot be healed.

By his Broken-hearted Mother and family.

IN MEMORIAM

MONCH—In sad but loving remembrance of our devoted wife and mother, ALICE MONCH who died October 24, 1919, two years ago today.

We may have our sorrows,
Some griefs quickly die away,
But the loss of our dear mother,
Grieves our heart from day to day
God called her, it was His will,
But in our hearts, we love her still,
Her memory is as fresh today,
As the hour she passed away.
Sweet and peaceful be her rest,
Forget her, we can never,
God called her, He knew best,
His will be done forever.

By her loving husband and Children.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH CAMPAIGN IN VIRGINIA.

Nowhere in the country is the great Nation-wide campaign of the Episcopal Church better organized, it is declared, then here in the Diocese of Virginia and the Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, D. D., bishop, emphasizes the aspirations and achievements of the movement on all of his visitationss which are now taking him into various parts of his domain. Mass meetings have been held in practically every town and county and congregations have been divided into groups and circles under the leadership of laymen and women.

The principal idea of the campaign is the spiritual enrichment of the church, culminating in the Every Member Canvass on November 20, while the financial quota for this diocese is $270,000, an amount over-subscribed last year when Virginia made about the best showing in the country. While a part of this money goes for missionary work throughout the world, much of it stays at home and is used for assisting struggling churches and giving necessary equipment for the proper work of the church. A large part, too, is spent on religious education and for the colored work, while hundreds of dollars help the mountain people in the building and support of churches, schools and settlement houses and for the salaries of trained women workers.
